

What is CSFP?

The Commodity Supplemental Food Program is a federal program that provides eligible seniors with a MONTHLY box of shelf-stable items. Examples of items distributed in the box: cheese, juice, cereal, pasta, peanut butter, and canned goods.

You must be at least 60 years of age, have a household gross income at or below 130% of the federal poverty guidelines, and reside in the county in which you apply to receive a box from one of the agencies below. You may only participate with one agency.
